

Emily knew she wanted to be a PTA after a high school JRTOC field trip to Brooke Army Medical Center in San Antonio, TX. One might say it was love at first sight after she caught a glimpse into the Center for the Intrepid that was providing care to wounded service members returning from the Iraq War and War in Afghanistan.

After graduating as a PTA from Lone Star College in 2019, Emily made the move from her hometown of Spring, TX, to start a new life with her fiancé, Jorge. Today she keeps a happy home in Cedar Park with their menagerie of animals and spends her free time crafting, baking, and working out.

Emily started as a PTA in an aquatic clinic in downtown Houston before finding work in the home health setting in Austin, where she quickly fell in love with her geriatric patients but yearned for "something more". It wasn't long before she stumbled upon Lymphwell, Christina's clinic in Round Rock, and realized what that something was: serving the population suffering from lymphedema, offering treatment to patients who have gone years suffering with a disease so many doctors couldn't/wouldn't diagnose or even begin to know how to treat. Emily finds an immense sense of gratification from this very specialized area of PT and is gearing up to get certified this upcoming summer.

Emily started with Lymphwell in March '22 and has never felt more at home, she looks forward to growing with the Lymphwell family and cannot wait to see what the new year brings!
